BARN BURNED BY INCENDIARY

Joseph Johnson is Heavy Loser in Big Fire North of Arlington
Last Night.

ARRESTS MAY SOON BE MADE

Foot Prints Show Where Man Came
From His Buggy to the Barn.

A large stock barn owned by Joseph Johnson, who lives northwest of Arlington was burned to the ground at an early hour this morning. There is conclusive evidence that the barn was set fire.

When Mr. Johnson discovered the fire about five o'clock this morning, the barn was practically burned. He was notified by telephone. People living several miles west of him saw the blaze about three o'clock and began telephoning to find out whose barn it was. They did not locate the right party until almost two hours after the fire was first seen. The barn was a large one, being valued at $700. There were 25 tons of good hay in the barn, but there was no stock or grain. The loss on the contents is valued at $250. Mr. Johnson carried $300 insurance on the barn and $400 on the hay and grain.

Owing to threats that Mr. Johnson had heard before, he began to look for traces of an incendiary and soon found what he was looking for. There were distinct foot prints in the corn field between the barn and the road. Mr. Johnson followed these tracks, and found that they led to the road. Near the place where they came out, a buggy had turned around in the road, and there were evidences that the horse had been hitched to the fence. Mr. Johnson thinks that he knows who is guilty of the crime and it is likely that arrests will follow. Mr. Johnson made an effort to get bloodhounds but was unsuccessful.

Coming as it did just forty-eight hours after the disastrous fire at Arlington, which is also thought to have been the work of an incendiary, the fire has caused considerable excitement in Posey township. Arlington people are convinced that the Meyers building was set fire. Whether the fire last night was caused by the same parties that are guilty of Monday night's disaster is the question that has been discussed by Arlington people today. The general opinion is that sufficient evidence will be gathered to weave a strong case around the guilty parties.

AT HOME FROM THE NORTHWEST

Al Donnegan and New Castle Men
Return From Prospecting Trip to South Dakota.

ARE ENTERED FOR DRAWING

Rushville Man Will Buy Land if he Doesn't Hold a Lucky
Number.

W. A. Wake and son Cloyd and Al Donnegan, conductor of the "Rushville Limited," have reached home from Dallas, S. D., where they registered and will participate in the big land drawing on October 19, says the New Castle Courier. Dallas is a town of about 1500, but there were nearly 12,000 people there when the New Castle men left on Monday. They were delighted with the country and had the pleasure of meeting Swift Bar, the obstreperous Indian chief who is giving the government a great deal of trouble.

Tents have been erected and used as sleeping places, refreshment stands abound and three saloons are open day and night and do flourishing business. One of the big sleeping tents was named "Lincoln, Nebraska" by an admirer of Bryan, but the name was too much for the gasoline stove and it exploded Sunday, setting fire to the tent and totally destroying it. Donnegan remarked that this was a rather significant fact, inasmuch as the election is so near at hand.

Very little politics is heard out there. Everyone is excited over the opening of the reservation and making plans for the future should they be successful in drawing.

Monday an immense crowd arrived and the restaurant and hotel men shot the prices up to the sky line. It was then that Donnegan departed. Specimens of grain were brought back and are very fine. Donnegan says that if he is unsuccessful in the drawing, he proposes to go to Dallas and buy a quarter section. He is going to have a piece of that land if he's got to "annex" it.

STARTLING STATISTICS SHOWN

Indiana leads all States in the number of divorces applied for and granted within its borders. At the census bureau it is learned that the work of gathering statistics throughout the United States on the subjects of marriage and divorce was completed some time ago and returns from every county in the United States have been received. All summer long the census bureau has worked away on the compilation of data secured and things have got to the point where the manuscript is ready for the government printing office.

Director North and his assistants have established a policy to give out no facts or figures until the proof sheets are returned from the printing office, revision made, and directions written.

CREAT MEETING HELD LAST NIGHT

New Salem Republicans Enthusiastic
And Heard Two Good Speeches
From Local Men.

AT FALMOUTH TOMORROW

Congressman Howley Speaks There
—Watson Club Makes Plans
For Next Tuesday Night.

Republican political meetings have been the order for the past three days and will continue for the remainder of the campaign. One of the best meetings of the campaign was the one held last night at New Salem. There was enthusiasm galore and the Republicans in that neck of the woods showed that they were up and doing. Good speeches were made by A. E. Martin of this city and A. J. Ross of Andersonville. Both discussed the issues of the campaign in a thorough manner and were frequently interrupted with applause.

Tomorrow afternoon a joint meeting of Fayette and Rush counties will be held at Falmouth. W. C. Howley congressman from Oregon will speak there at 2:30 o'clock.

Mr. Howley is said to be one of the best speakers in the lower house of Congress. A large number of Republicans from this city are planning to attend.

Today was a big one at Carthage. Congressman E. D. Crumpacker spoke there this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock and Thos. Davidson speaks there tonight. There was a big time, something doing all the time. Several from this city attended.

The Young Men's Watson club is making preparations to go to Columbus next Tuesday night on the Watson special. It is likely that a parade will be given in this city before the train goes and another after the crowd reaches Columbus. The Milroy and Carthage clubs will unite with the club here for this occasion.

I. & C. CONDUCTOR ROBBED OF HIS GRIP

Passenger Made Away With Luggage
Belonging to Conductor Joseph Totten.

STRANGER SEEN BUT ESCAPED

Joseph Totten, a conductor on the I. & C., was robbed of his grip, containing a number of tickets belonging to the company by a stranger last night. The car which he had in charge, was west bound and had taken a siding at Greensburg. When Totten was out the passenger departed with the grip. He then purchased an interurban ticket for Indianapolis. Totten on his arrival at Shelbyville, left the car and went to Adams with an officer. They saw the stranger waiting for a car, but he escaped.

HORSE WITHOUT HONOR AT HOME

The Shame of it is That We Have
Not Given Fall Horse Shows
Heretofore.

FIRST ONE TO BE A BIG AFFAIR

Elaborate Preparation Being Made—
$700 in Cash Premiums—Floral
Parade a Feature.

Few people realize what a big thing the Fall Horse Show is going to be in Rushville, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 20 and 21. A bunch of hustlers is at the head of it and they are making it go with much vim and vigor. It promises to be the biggest thing of the kind ever held in the State outside of the horse shows held in Indianapolis.

And why should it not be so? Rush county has an enviable reputation throughout the entire country for producing some of the best roadsters and race horses ever bred. The shame of it all is that we have not had horse shows before where our stock could be paraded before the eyes of all and the home people join in the plaudits of the outside world.

One of the features will be a floral parade Wednesday afternoon and it is planned to have it surpass anything of the kind ever seen here. Before the regular program of the show opens each day a parade of all the stock entered will take place. Night sessions will also be held and these will no doubt attract a large number of people from out of the city.

Dick Wilson will exhibit Aileen Wilson, possibly the fastest pacing mare in America. She is Rush county born and bred. That's going some for an opening. Harrie Jones will have his string of horses here that were the largest winners in the Great Western circuit this season. Clell Maple, Riley Nebro, George Weeks, Mike Kelly, Scott Brannan, Dagler & Son, William Wilson, W. A. Jones and other horsemen will exhibit some fast ones. In addition to this there will be hundreds of horses owned and exhibited by farmers and breeders of Rush county.

The prizes offered in the different classes are of sufficient value to attract the owners of the best horses in the State and adjoining States. Special attention has been paid to the women's department and we will have an opportunity of seeing some of the best local whips in stylish and nifty turnouts. Saddle horses and class horses of all description will be featured in the show. Truly it has every earmark of a big affair.

ALL TALKED ON LIVE QUESTION

Wednesday Evening Club Held First Meeting of the Year Last Night.

GOOD CITIZENSHIP THE TOPIC

At the first meeting of the Wednesday Evening club held last night, the question of "Good Citizenship" was the topic discussed. The members entered into a general discussion which was opened by Rev. R. W. Abberley. "What can the Wednesday Evening Club do to improve Rushville," was the central point of all the talks.

Miss Beulah Meredith who underwent an operation for appendicitis at Indianapolis is doing nicely.

The invitation is quite an honor but Mrs. Gilbert will be unable to attend.

MAKE PLANS FOR A SECOND SHOW

Annual Fruit Exhibit at Purdue University to be More Extensive
Than the First.

GOOD PRIZES ARE OFFERED

All Growers of Fruit are Eligible to Make Entries in the Exhibit.

Arrangements have been completed for the Second Annual Fruit Show to be held at Purdue University during the week of the Farmers' Short Course, January 11-16, 1909. Great interest was shown by the fruit growers of the State in the first annual show held last year. The exhibition this winter will be held under the joint auspices of the Indiana Horticultural Society and the Horticultural department of the university. It is planned to make the fruit show bigger and better than ever. The Society is providing a generous premium list—over $300 in cash prizes being already assured. Everyone interested in the growing of fruit is urged to enter this contest, practically the only condition being that all fruit shown must be grown by the exhibitor. C. G. Woodbury of Lafayette answers all inquiries.

OTHER SOCIETIES GET INVITATIONS

Big Preparations Made for Art and Curio Exhibit at Home of Mrs. Guffin.

BENEFIT OF THE AID SOCIETY

The ladies of the Christian church Aid Society who are managing the Curio and Art exhibit to be held at the home of Mrs. Guffin on Friday afternoon and evening, have issued personal invitations to the members of the different societies of the other churches, but wish it to be understood that the display is for the general public, and is for the benefit of the Aid Society fund. The collection of Filipino curios owned by Miss Effie Coleman will be added to the collection made by Mrs. Guffin and Mrs. Claude Cambern abroad.

The exhibit will also be held on Saturday afternoon and evening.

GUN CLUB SHOOT A HUGE SUCCESS

First Big Event of Its Kind Ever
Held in Rushville Proved a Big Affair.

EXCELLENT SCORES ARE MADE

Some of the Crack Shots of Country
Here—Local Members "No Mean Shots."

To say that the first annual shoot of the Rushville Gun Club was a huge success is using but a thirty gauge expression. The local members are elated with the event that came to a close about three o'clock today, completing two days of record breaking shooting.

The rain of yesterday afternoon caused two events to be postponed until today. Some of the best shots in the country were attracted here and as a result some crack scores were chalked up. The local shots fared well and compared favorably with the out-of-town guests. Very few blue rocks sailed out in the air "happy, gay and free-hearted," but what bit the dust and were returned to dust. In the west part of the field some day somebody will probably locate a lead mine for over eight thousand shells were fired at the festive blue rocks. There are enough shells laying around on the ground to start a seaside and wads a plenty that would be a rich find for river bank poker players.

The leading firearm and shell companies had representatives on the ground and in every instance they were men who have national reputations as clay bird shooters. Summaries of the scores made will be published later.

LIKE UNTO THE DAYS OF SIXTY-ONE

Was the Enthusiasm Manifested at Organization of Old Soldiers
Watson Club.

WILL BE AT HEAD OF PARADE

The Old Soldiers' Watson club was organized last night in an enthusiastic meeting at the Republican headquarters. Owing to the rainy weather many of the old veterans who wanted to attend were kept away, but those who did come made up in enthusiasm for those who were unable to get there. The club has about sixty-five members. Jabez Smith, who has been the live wire in organizing the club, presided at the meeting and was elected president without a dissenting vote. Mr. Smith made a short talk thanking the veterans for the honor. John Moses was elected secretary of the new organization. Two rousing good speeches were made by J. M. Stevens, and Rev. J. F. Gillespie. The old soldiers will head the parade when the Republicans ratify after the election of James E. Watson.

Judge Sparks has made his decision in the case of the Arlington Telephone company against the I. & C. traction company. He held that the traction company should stand the expense of placing the wires under the track.

IN FRIENDLY GREETING MET

The Two Bills Get Together Around Banquet Board.

'T WAS A NOTABLE MEETING

Not Since the Lincoln and Douglass Campaign Has It Happened That Rival Candidates for the Highest Office in the Land Have Come Together Face to Face, and Great Interest Was Manifested When Mr. Taft and Mr. Bryan Shook Hands at Commercial Meeting.

Chicago, Oct. 8.—W. J. Bryan and W. H. Taft, rival candidates for the presidency of the United States, met last night at the fourth annual banquet of the Chicago Association of Commerce. The meeting is said to have been the first of its kind since the Lincoln and Douglas campaign preceding the civil war.

Intense interest in the meeting had been manifested since it first became known that the two candidates were to meet in public, and every seat in three banquet halls at the Auditorium hotel, thrown together for the occasion, was occupied when the first course was served, save only a commodious chair reserved for Judge Taft.

An ear-splitting shout gave warning of the arrival of Judge Taft. Mr. Bryan, in common with everyone else, arose and looked toward the entrance. A huge frame, moving like a ship amongst a swarm of tugs, was moving slowly up the narrow aisle between two tables. Those at a distance occasionally could catch a glimpse of a smiling face acknowledging greetings. A policeman in uniform and assistants in plain clothes aided in the progress of the distinguished guest. Mr. Bryan, who ceased in the destruction of some sort of chop suey masquerading under a French name, turned and smiled slightly.

The dramatic moment which had been anticipated with such deep interest, was soon over. Mr. Bryan's hand awaited that of Mr. Taft. A single lingering pressure, a word or so which none could overhear because of the tumult, and the Republican leader passed on to a chair at the right of President Hall of the Chicago Association of Commerce. The cheering continued for a minute or so after those at the speaker's table had taken their seats. At the first moment the noise subsided, Mr. Bryan, leaning to one side and smiling broadly, asked Mr. Taft if he "had a good day?"

This display of friendliness on the part of the two candidates stirred the crowd to renewed cheering and, words being useless in the din, Mr. Taft stroked his throat for answer. Then Taft laughed and the applause increased.

"What's the matter with Bill?" cried someone in loud tones.

"He's all right!"

"Who's all right?"

"Bill's all right."

When the last course had been served, both of the distinguished guests were kept busy signing menus, which were passed up over the mat of orchids in front of their section of the speakers' table. Meanwhile the banquet hall remained in good-natured disorder. The orchestra played incessantly, working the brasses and drums to the limit, but the music was almost drowned in the babel of shouts and songs.

"We're here because we're here," was a favorite.

"Dixie" inspired shrieks which apparently were not for anybody, but merely a symptom of the prevailing excitement. And through it all the two candidates labored with smiling fortitude, signing their names.

The tumult which began with the entrance of Mr. Taft lasted practically without cessation for forty-five minutes, with absolutely impartial impulse.

It took music by the orchestra and a song by the guests to restore a semblance of quiet. When talking in ordinary tones became possible, the two candidates entered into an animated conversation.

The speeches of both Mr. Taft and Mr. Bryan were non-partisan. This was in consonance with the wishes of the Chicago Association of Commerce, which is a non-partisan organization. Besides Mr. Taft and Mr. Bryan the speakers of the evening were A. C. Bartlett and David R. Forgan. Mr. Bartlett was the first speaker and Mr. Forgan was sandwiched between Mr. Bryan and Mr. Taft.

A picture of days when stately ships shall carry the rich products of the central states from the great lakes to the Gulf of Mexico through a deep waterway, returning with products of no less value, is being conjured up before the delegates and visitors to the third annual convention of the Lakes to the Gulf Deep Waterways association by able speakers. The need of such a waterway was insisted upon by every speaker. The question of transportation, it was declared, is one of the most serious questions with which this country has to deal. Judge Taft's insistence that not only the deep waterway, but the conservation of the national resources were related subjects which called for immediate action, elicited great applause. His statement that the waterway was not a project but a policy, found a ready response in cheers of his auditors.

Illinois's Unique Position.

Governor Deneen said in introducing the speaker of the day:

"Our state occupies a unique position with reference to the matters which you are to discuss. It is the lowest in elevation and the most uniform in topography in the Mississippi valley, and because of that the waters of the continent, the interior waters, those of the Ohio, the Tennessee, the Cumberland, and Missouri and the upper Mississippi pass our state on their way to the sea, and across our state, too, must be forged the final link which will connect the great lakes with the great gulf."

"Within two years of the adjournment of your first convention our legislature submitted to the people an amendment to the constitution which allows us to incur an indebtedness of $20,000,000 for the purpose of digging one link of this great project. This amendment will be submitted to the people at the coming election, and it will be carried."

In the afternoon four special trains carried the visitors on a tour of inspection of the Chicago drainage canal, where they saw the stupendous work instituted to dispose of the Chicago sewage, and which some day, the delegates hope, will form a part of a channel to the Gulf of Mexico from Lake Michigan.

PASSED THROUGH TERRORS OF THE SEA

Crew of the Mayflower Saved, But Vessel Lost.

Baltimore, Oct. 8.—Not laden with treasure rescued from a long-lost Spanish galleon, as they had fondly hoped, but themselves castaways rescued in the nick of time from the wreck of the once gallant cup defender, the yacht Mayflower, a dozen men were landed here by the Norwegian steamer Hippolyte Dumois, after having passed through the terrors of the recent hurricane that swept up the coast. The Mayflower, once the pride of the whole country as the successful defender of the "blue ribbon of the seas," the America's cup, is a derelict, tossed by the waves of the Atlantic ocean.

This is the unromantic end of a venture, tinged with romance, which had for its object the locating of a Spanish vessel lost many years ago in the Caribbean sea, with much treasure aboard. Of the men rescued five are Harvard men and the leaders of the expedition. The others are members of the crew of the Mayflower. And it would seem the very irony of fate that the vessel of which the party went in search had already been located by others and all her discoverable gold removed, a Jamaican dispatch a few days ago detailing this fact.

Today Will Settle It.

New York, Oct. 8.—A tie with New York and Chicago, each having a percentage of .641 in the race for the National League pennant, resulted from New York's third successive defeat of Boston yesterday. This means that the winner of the New York-Chicago game in this city today will take the pennant. Pittsburgh's percentage is .636.

INDIANA POLITICS

ROBERT G. TUCKER.

Indianapolis, October 8.—William H. Taft, Republican candidate for president of the United States, will spend three days in Indiana this month traveling over the state on a special train. The dates finally selected for the Indiana tour are Oct. 22, 23 and 24. The Republican state committee received definite information regarding Mr. Taft's contemplated visit last night in a telegram which Acting Chairman Sims received from National Chairman Hitchcock. No details regarding the Taft trip were received last night. "We are so glad that Mr. Taft is to give us three days," said Secretary Carl Riddick, "that we can wait a few hours for details. We had been informed that Mr. Taft would visit Indiana before the election, but we had no idea how much time he would give us. The committee feels that the state is being well favored by the national organization. Mr. Taft's three days in Indiana will certainly do the Republican organization great good." It is the understanding that the Taft party will spend at least one night in Indianapolis, when Mr. Taft will address a meeting. It is the intention of the officers of the state committee to have the Taft special visit as many Indiana towns as possible during the three days.

With the greatest speaking campaign in the history of the state in progress, both of the big political organizations are arranging to put on more steam. That this state is regarded as one of the main battlegrounds of the year is made evident by the number of prominent spellbinders now headed this way. The Democratic organization is said to have a promise from Bryan to come back to this state for a two-days' tour if he is needed. He is being held in reserve and will not be called by Chairman Jackson unless he is needed. Chairman Ruckelshaus of the local Republican county organization said today that his party is holding on an average of 200 meetings a week here. He declared that the attendance at all the meetings is breaking records. "If there is any lack of interest in our meetings I fail to see it," said Ruckelshaus. "The outlook here for the Republicans is very good." Vice President Fairbanks delivered an address at Franklin last night to a large audience. He left immediately after his speech for the East, where he will campaign under the auspices of the national committee. Arrangements are being made by both parties here for mass meetings Oct. 21. Bourke Cochran will be the Democratic orator. John L. Griffiths, consul general to Liverpool, will be the principal speaker for the Republicans.

Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, will make a four-days' tour of Indiana. His dates are Oct. 16, 17, 18 and 19, and his itinerary includes practically every union labor center in the state. He will make thirty speeches under the direction of the State Federation of Labor, according to an announcement here. However, it was rumored that the Democratic state and national organizations have a hand in the arrangements, as Chairman Hendren of the speakers' bureau obtained from Gompers a promise last week that he would return to Indiana during October for several speeches. It was stated today that the Indiana federation has raised the money for the tour. Edgar Perkins, president of the state federation; O. P. Smith, vice president; J. J. Keegan, organizer for the machinists, and several other labor leaders will accompany Gompers.

James E. Watson, Republican nominee, will make a number of speeches here during the next three weeks. He is being scheduled for noon factory meetings. He will make his first speech here next Monday, but his principal Indianapolis meeting will be held on the night of Oct. 16. Arrangements are now being made for Senator Beveridge to close the campaign for the Republicans here. He probably will speak the night before the election, and his meeting is expected to be the largest of the campaign on the Republican side. The latest acquisitions to the star cast that is appearing for the Democrats in Indiana are George W. Peck, former governor of Wisconsin, and Mayor Rose of Milwaukee.

Missing Bridegroom Located.

Wooster, O., Oct. 8.—Word has been received here that Ralph W. Eddy, the young traveling man who disappeared in Milwaukee, August 20, two days before he was to have married Miss Warren, of this city, enlisted with the United States army at the Jefferson Barracks, St. Louis, August 21. Captain Eddy, father of the young man, when informed of the news, which had been learned in Washington, said he had no previous knowledge concerning it.

What Do They Cure?

The above question is often asked concerning Dr. Pierce's two leading medicines, "Golden Medical Discovery" and "Favorite Prescription." The answer is that "Golden Medical Discovery" is a most potent alterative or blood-purifier, and tonic or invigorator and acts especially favorably in a curative way upon all the mucous lining surfaces, as of the nasal passages, throat, bronchial tubes, stomach, bowels and bladder, curing a large per cent. of catarrhal cases whether the disease affects the nasal passages, the throat, larynx, bronchia, stomach (as catarrhal dyspepsia), bowels (as mucous diarrhoea), bladder, uterus or other pelvic organs. Even in the chronic or ulcerative stages of these affections it is often successful in affecting cures.

"The Favorite Prescription" is advised for the cure of one class of diseases—those peculiar weaknesses, derangements and irregularities incident to women only. It is a powerful yet gently acting invigorating tonic and nerve. For weak worn-out, over-worked women—no matter what has caused the break-down, "Favorite Prescription" will be found most effective in building up the strength, regulating the womanly functions, subduing pain and bringing about a healthy, vigorous condition of the whole system.

A book of particulars wraps each bottle giving the formulae of both medicines and quoting what scores of eminent medical authors, whose works are consulted by physicians of all the schools of practice as guides in prescribing, say of each ingredient entering into these medicines.

The words of praise bestowed on the several ingredients entering into Doctor Pierce's medicines by such writers should have more weight than any amount of non-professional testimonials, because such men are writing for the guidance of their medical brethren and know whereof they speak.

Both medicines are non-alcoholic, non-secret, and contain no harmful habit-forming drugs, being composed of glyceric extracts of the roots of native, American medicinal forest plants. They are both sold by dealers in medicine. You can't afford to accept as a substitute for one of these medicines of known composition, any secret nostrum.

HUDSON MINERS IN DISTRESS

They Have Practically Abandoned Hope of Winning Strike.

OPERATORS HANG TOGETHER

Indemnity Being Paid the Mine Owners for Their Loss Since the Mine Has Been Idle, Takes From the Miners Their Last Hope of Being Able to Hold Out Against the Operators in the Contention They Have Maintained During Past Three Months.

Sullivan, Ind., Oct. 8.—The payment by the other members of the Bituminous Operators' association of money to the operators of the Hudson mine in the north part of this county, Tuesday, has taken from the miners at that mine their last hope for an adjustment of the present strike on their terms. The miners are left with practically nothing to look forward to but submission to the terms demanded by the operators of the mine—resumption of work there without the reinstatement of the discharged driver who is the original cause of the trouble.

Miners at Hudson had hoped that when the other operators reached the point where actual payment of cold cash to the Hudson operators was necessary the other operators would back down. The receipt of $1,500 a month from other members of the association as long as the present strike continues means that the Hudson operators can keep their mine shut down without loss indefinitely. Many of the Hudson miners are now in desperate straits, not having had work for three months, and not being able to get work in other mines near here, the other mine lists being filled.

TILL AFTER THE ELECTION

The Joseph E. Talbot Disbarment Case Postponed Till Nov. 5.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 8.—The Joseph E. Talbot disbarment case will not be tried until after election. After a strenuous argument between the opposing attorneys before Special Judge Harry B. Tutthill of Michigan City, the case went over until Nov. 5, the Thursday after election. Talbot is a candidate for re-election, and was desirous of having an early trial, in the hope that he would be vindicated. Samuel L. Parker and D. D. Bates, attorneys for Talbot, argued for an early hearing, and suggested next Monday, October 12, for its beginning, but the attorneys prosecuting preferred a later date. The court, however, concluded that the Thursday following the November election would be a time convenient for all, and it was so ordered. Two additional specifications were added to the thirteen charges in disbarment already filed against Talbot.

HARRY GARFIELD, PRESIDENT

Former President's Son Now Head of Williams College.

Williamstown, Mass., Oct. 8.—Harry Augustus Garfield, of the class of '85, son of President James A. Garfield, was inducted yesterday into the office of president of Williams college. Seventy-five college presidents had accepted invitations to be present, and the ceremony of induction was witnessed by men prominent in civil and professional life. The state was represented by Governor Guild. James Bryce, ambassador of Great Britain, was also present, as well as United States Senator Crane and President Garfield's three brothers, Secretary of the Interior Garfield, Irvin McDowell Garfield, and Abram Garfield, all Williams men. The only living former president of Williams college, Rev. Dr. Franklin Carter, was an interested spectator.

PROFESSOR HARRY A. GARFIELD.

The services in the chapel were conducted by the Rev. Francis E. Dewey of Minneapolis and President Woodrow Wilson of Princeton university and others delivered congratulatory addresses.

The Sole Survivor.

St. Pierre, Miq., Oct. 8.—A raving maniac, after clinging to a dory plank for thirty-six hours in the north Atlantic, the captain of the French three-masted schooner Juanita was brought into this port by the fishing schooner General Archamere, the sole survivor of a crew of twenty-six men. The disaster, which is the worst that has befallen the fishing fleet on the Grand Banks in years, occurred last Wednesday night during the hurricane which swept northward from the West Indies.

Mr. Hughes's View of It.

Hastings, Neb., Oct. 8.—After having spoken in fourteen towns, all within a radius of a few hundred miles of the home of the Democratic candidate for president, Governor Charles E. Hughes of New York, in a speech here last night, declared he was convinced that "the voice of Mr. Bryan's own county would not be the weakest in repudiating Bryan and reaffirming the Republican policies next month."

A Patriotic Duty.

Washington, Oct. 8.—It is announced at the White House that the president will not consider it pernicious political activity on the part of any employe on the classified service in going to his home to vote at the coming election. The president said it was not only the duty of every employe of the government who is entitled to vote to go to his home and cast a ballot, but it was patriotic.

Fortunately Oklahoma is a young State and will doubtless outgrow Governor Haskell.

The Independence party has demonstrated that a very small political organization can stir up a great deal of excitement.

Mr. Bryan presents a schedule of promises, while Taft presents a record of performances. It will be easy for the sane voter to choose between the two.

The tide of immigration still flows stronger than that of immigration, and now that the fall and winter months are coming on no change is likely before spring. This is to be regretted, for it will permit the process of assimilation into American citizens of recent arrival in this country to go no more effectively.

In the estimation of some people the offensiveness of an act and the wrong doing of an individual seems to be lessened if, instead of using the simplest and most direct language to describe it, some other language is used. A man who steals would much rather be called a "defaulter" or "embezzler" than a "thief." It doesn't sound quite so bad to say that he "appropriated" as that he "stole." To be called a shoplifter is a disgrace, but to be called a victim of kleptomania makes one feel that he is an object of pity. To be termed a "habitual drunkard" hurts one's feelings badly, but to be known as a "dipsomaniac" awakens no such feeling.

It is a like desire to smoothe things over and escape the just penalty of crime that is responsible for such terms as "brain storms," "moral insanity," and other similar devices. They remind us of the black man who was caught one night stealing wood from his neighbor's woodpile, and who, when called a thief, replied in an injured tone, "Don't call me a 'thief.' I'm morally insane." A little more calling of things by their right names and following up the wrong doing with just punishment might have a wholesome effect.

Populism is an enemy to legitimate, conservative business. It has been promoted by Bryan, catered to by legislators and caressed by the unthinking masses. It feeds on calamity and grows on opposition and obstruction. It is the mother of unrest and discontent. It has forced all parties to greater extremes in legislation than a "safe and sane" administration can justify. It has come to pass that no man dare serve a corporation, no matter how honestly, unless his motives are questioned and he is ostracized from public service. It drove out of public life Senator John Spooner, of Wisconsin, one of the ablest and brightest statesmen of the day. It has others marked for destruction. It will be a sorry day for this country when no man can serve in public life who has served a corporation. The corporations are always on the outlook for our brightest and brainiest men. Shall the public be deprived of their services because Populism has tainted and prejudiced public opinion?

One of the ablest Attorney-Generals the United States ever had was Senator Knox of Pennsylvania. He was born and bred a corporation lawyer. And as Attorney General he was one of the ablest and most fearless prosecutors of the trusts and corrupt corporations. His experience in defending corporations was most valuable in his work of prosecuting them. And this is the rule in all business matters. A lawyer to be successful, must not only understand his own side of the case but that of the opposition as well. And so, we think it time to call a halt in our work of "extermination" and stop the progress of Populism.

What Our Neighbors Are Talking About

THEY WANT TO KNOW.

(Greensburg Review.)

In his speech to the Democrats here the other day, B. F. Shively made this remarkable statement: "The Democratic policy is not to reduce the selling price of your products, but to reduce the buying price of the necessities of life."

Without going into an explanation of how it is possible to maintain the selling price and at the same time reduce the buying price, Mr. Shively proceeded with his argument, and his hearers are still wondering "how such things can be."

EVERYBODY SOBER AND HAPPY.

(Greenfield Tribune.)

That going "dry" does not kill a town was demonstrated Thursday and Friday at Shirley. That town never did have as large crowds as it did on those days. Friday it was estimated there were 3000 people there and everybody sober and happy. No headaches were due the next day, but only pleasant memories of the biggest and best time Shirley has ever had.

BY THE WAYSIDE

We heard the other day that they found an editor in heaven. How he got there is not positively known but it is conjectured that he passed himself off as something good and slipped in, unsuspected. When the dodge was discovered they searched the beautiful realm of that city in all its breadth and length for a lawyer to draw up the papers of ejection, but they couldn't find one, and of course they let the editor stay.

OF HUMAN INTEREST

Not All of 'Em.

Little Estelle La Belle Carr, the three-year-old daughter of Grand Carr, manager of the Grand theater made her debut as a dancer last week at the local theater. The first night she completed her act she ran to her cousin, Mme. Grimes, the serpentine dancer, and said: "Now give me a cigarette."

"Why, what for, honey?" she was asked. "Oh, 'cause. Don't all actresses smoke cigarettes? I saw 'em smoke 'em when they came here with big shows."

The Fat and the Lean

Vern Norris, the next county clerk of Rush county, received a post card from Supt. W. O. Headlee, who is now located in the South Carolina mountains for his health. Mr. Headlee said he was "awfully thin" but that Vern could count on a good, big, fat vote from him in November.

What They Stand For

If one goes to New York City they will see from thirty to one hundred cabs outside the theater doors at the evening performances. They stand for the aristocracy of that great city. But here in Rushville similar conditions sometimes exist. Last Saturday night, eighteen cabs were counted, all in a row, outside one of the motion picture theaters. But they were baby cabs. They stood for the Belgian Hare aristocracy of Rushville.

SUSANNE: Good housewives prefer Gold Medal Flour. SALOME.

Around the Bend

J. W. Bundrant, a colored boy in the local high school is the envy of all the other pupils. Remember when you was a boy and someone told you to put fishing worm oil on your body so you could bend like the fellows in the circus and you put it on you and your mother made you bend over her knee and administered a severe and forcible spanking for bringing the ill odor in the house? Well, Bundrant can do the contortionist stunts without the angle worm juice. He is naturally limber. Every evening at the foot ball grounds the colored lad can be seen doing the Grecian bend backwards and picking up handkerchiefs off the ground with his teeth. A boy who can do such things is more fortunate and more popular than the one who owes a Shetland pony—and you know what that means.

Bride Was Shocked

Some people have a mania for playing tricks on bridal couples. It's a disease—or possibly an affliction. At any rate there is no common sense back of some of the things people resort to in such instances. In Rushville recently the limit was outdone. A popular couple was married and what their friends did not think to do was not in the great joke book on Hymen. Horse hair, chopped up fine was scattered in the bed; limburger cheese was distributed in great quantities about the bridal chamber, but the worst of all was the charging with electricity the steel springs. A wire was run into the house and connected with the springs. Once they were moved an alarm bell was set off. The bride was shocked.

He Got in Bad.

Tom Lytle and Dr. Will Smith went to Chicago last Sunday and thereby hangs a tale. They arrived too late to attend church services and they thought they would do the next best thing and go out to the ball game and see Ownie Bush play with the Detroit team. They left their wives at the hotel and went to the southside grounds early. For over two hours they were pushed, shoved, jostled, knocked around, jammed, hustled about in the great maelstrom begging and imploring for entrance. Doe and Tom were parted during the hours they fought for a place near the main gate. Doe got in and now has whiskers in his throat, so loud and so long did he hollow for Bush. But Lytle was not so fortunate. After he lost sight of his friend he was pushed into another crowd of some three or four thousand people. Of a sudden they broke into a run. Lytle went with them. He thought another gate had probably been opened at the other end of the park. He kept right up with them and a half hour afterwards found himself with a big sight seeing gang in the stockyards. That evening at "dinner" Dr. Smith told him all about the game.

Only One Woman in 250 can get one of these suits

If the makers of these suits could enlarge their plant two hundred times, they could not, even then, make enough of their good Wooltex garments to fit every woman who would want to have one. It takes years to educate a Wooltex tailor—that is why the number of these garments is limited. It is our good fortune—and yours—that we are able to get the allotment we have.

The secret of these garments lies in honest material—honest workmanship. Their makers have done more and gone further to get the best style ideas than any other makers of woman's clothing. And these styles are lastingly sewn into the best all-wool material—sewn in to stay—stitch by stitch. Just see the quiet elegance of the suit shown here, and remember that we have, beside—

- Walking suits in hard finish, fancy suitings, diagonals and broadcloths—some with sheath skirts—many with big buttons.
- Beauclieve coats, modified Directoire style—high waist line in back—slashed sides—bias back, a new and pleasing effect.
- Artistic evening wraps of broadcloth in pastel colors, with novel effects in trimmings—some with cretonne trimmings, hand-tinted in water color.
- Long coat suits—high waist lines—trimming cleverly arranged to add to height and increase slenderness—novel sleeve effects and enormous self-covered buttons.
- Marchioness and Belmore coats—the standard coats, but made better than the standard way. In material, in style, in workmanship, these coats can not be improved.
- Separate skirts which button down to the hem—skirts with side plackets—skirts with front plackets—skirts with habit backs—many in modified Directoire style, opening at one side over pleats.
- And suits, coats and skirts in almost endless variety, all snappy Wooltex Styles—all durable Wooltex materials—garments that delight the eye and hold their attractiveness till the very end.

Every Wooltex Garment is guaranteed by the makers for two full seasons of satisfactory wear.

Please ask for the Wooltex Style Book. From it you will get the newest and best exclusive fashion pointers. Better still, come in and see the suits themselves, see the styles, see the materials, see the art in designing, see the workmanship. Surely you will want to get the benefit of the best Paris styles when they are lastingly sewn into such serviceable suits as these, and placed within your easy reach at such moderate prices.

MAUZY & DENNING

This suit is ideal for street, travel or business wear. The coat is 36 to 40 inches, semi-fitting, with slashed back. The skirt is gored, opening in front, and has attached military belt. The style in this suit lies in its good lines and in its remarkable tailoring. Many materials and shades to select from.

Here's Where the Fun Comes In

There is one fellow in Rushville who is always looking for trouble—and he finds it, too. He is none other than Posey Denning, employed by the Automatic Telephone company to look up trouble wires and make repairs. But this morning he got into some trouble which he will not get paid for. Going into an establishment where the form of a woman is used to exhibit a "ware," he halloed to the girls in the rear of the place
as he put his arm about the figure:
"I'm getting a little loving. Here's the girl that likes me, don't you old pal." He did not see a lady customer who was waiting to be waited upon.
One of the girl clerks had gone to the rear of the store to get a sample to show the prospective customer.
talking to the woman. Up came the head lady of the place: "Now you get right out of here, sir; we don't stand for anything like that around here," she said. And like a whipped cur with his tail between his legs, Posey made a hasty exit and getaway.

In love, as in gambling, those who come to play remain to pay.

Flirt and the world flirts with you —marry and sit at home.

Love is the only occupation in which a man never becomes so discouraged that he hasn't ambition enough to "begin again."

A man has an idea that, if he can only make his wife keep her record clean and white, the Recording Angel will never notice the black marks on his own.

Minute Hold-Ups On the Street

CAPTAIN JOHN FLEECHART:

"Well my opinion is that these neighborhood meetings which the Republicans are having will do a lot more good than some people think. You see these speakings we have here draw people from the country but they don't reach out into the townships that are farthest away. These meetings, like the one they had at New Salem last night reach people that never would be reached in any other way. Yes, I'm for the kind of campaigning that get's right down to the people."

SOCIETY NEWS

Connersville Courier: A large number of local young people, and patrons of the Bush dancing academy in this city, will attend en masse
the opening of his school of dancing in the Woodmen hall in Rushville, Friday night. The party will leave the city on the 7:53 p. m. car and arrive in due time to enjoy a few hours with their friends. Young people of Rushville seem to be as enthusiastic about the dance, and take as much interest as those of this city.

Speaking of the double wedding of Faye J. Clarke to Miss Mayme
Meer and A. S. Ross to Miss Rose Meer at Shelbyville yesterday the Shelbyville Liberal says: The attendants were Misses Ida Cooning of Rushville, Miss Celia Oefelein of this city, and Messrs. George Oefelein and John Bausebach of this city. The brides wore Paris mouseline trimmed in lace and insertion. They wore bridal veils and wreaths and carried arm bouquets of bride's roses. The lady attendants wore French lawn, trimmed in lace and insertion. They carried bouquets of pink roses and wore white picture hats with plumes.

The Pythian Sisters gave a pie social in the K. of P. hall last night that was a delightful affair. Music, refreshments and dancing were the social cards of the evening.

The Discovery Day dance to be given in the Modern Woodmen hall next Monday night promises to be an enjoyable affair. The famous Mon-tani Bros. orchestra of Indianapolis has been engaged for the occasion.

A quiet wedding was consummated
Wednesday afternoon, the principals being Mr. Minor Thomas, son of Mr.
and Mrs. William Thomas and Miss
Lucy Piper, only daughter of Mrs.
Mary Piper of Fairview. They drove to Connersville and were united in marriage by Rev. J. C. Burkhart of that place.

The wedding of Miss Lois Dawson to Ray Reeves will occur at the home of the bride in East Eleventh street
this evening.

Mrs. Robert Tompkins entertained
the Grand club at her home in East
Seventh street this afternoon.

An enjoyable social was given at the old Catholic church last night.
The honors at euchre were won by Miss Anna Geraghty, Mrs. Michael Cooning and Thomas Geraghty, Sr.

Lady Betty Across the Water

By C. N. & A. M. WILLIAMSON * COPYRIGHT, 1906, BY McCLURE, PHILLIPS & CO.

This expression struck me as being so funny that I burst out laughing, though I had to stop and think for a second before I could quite see what Mr. Doremus really meant, but I wouldn't forget my point in a laugh.

"Perhaps it wouldn't do to offer money," I went on. "Suppose we got up a subscription to buy him a second class passage for the rest of the way. That would show appreciation, wouldn't it?"

"It would," replied Mr. Doremus gravely, "and if you'll start the subscription, Lady Betty, it'll go like wild-fire."

"Very well, then, I will," said I, "though I'd rather some one else did it."

"It wouldn't be so popular from any other quarter. I'll help you. We'll go floating around together and pass the plate, and if you like I'll do the talking."

I agreed to this, and if I'd thought about it at all I should have supposed that Mrs. Ess Kay would be as pleased as Punch with such an arrangement, because Mr. Doremus, as a relative of Mrs. Van der Windt's, is the only man on board to whom she makes herself agreeable. It appears that he has started several fashions in New York, the most important being to drive in some park they have there without a hat. But probably if the truth were known he lost it, like the fox that tried to make his friends chop off their tails.

Mrs. Ess Kay had gone to her stateroom soon after lunch, as the motion of the ship had given her a headache, and I didn't happen to be near Sally Woodburn. So I said "yes" to Mr. Doremus on the impulse of the moment without stopping to think whether I ought to ask permission first.

We had great fun going about, for Mr. Doremus was so witty and said such amusing things to the people he begged of that I could hardly speak for laughing, and every one else laughed too. I wished that he wouldn't put me forward always and say it was my idea and I had started the subscription. But he argued that I must sacrifice myself for the success of the charity just as I would at home if I had to work off damaged pincushions or day before yesterday's violets at a bazaar. Of course, not being out, I've never sold anything at a bazaar, but Victoria is continually doing it in the season, and she makes quite a virtue of forcing perfect strangers to "stand and deliver," as she calls it. This seemed much the same sort of thing to me, and so I felt nice and virtuous, too, as Vic does when she comes home with a new frock torn and stepped on and lies in bed late next day, with Thompson to brush her hair and me to read to her.

Cough Caution

Never, positively never poison your lungs. If you cough—even from a simple cold only—you should always heal, soothe, and ease the irritated bronchial tubes. Don't blindly suppress it with a stupefying poison. It's strange how some things finally come about. For twenty years Dr. Shoop has constantly warned people not to take cough mixtures or prescriptions containing Opium, Chloroform, or similar poisons. And now—a little late though—Congress says "Put it on the label, if poisons are in your Cough Mixture." Good! Very good! Hereafter for this very reason mothers, and others, should insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. No poison marks on Dr. Shoop's labels—and none in the medicine, else it must by law be on the label. And it's not only safe, but it is said to be by those that know it best, a truly remarkable cough remedy. Take no chance then, particularly with your children. Insist on having Dr. Shoop's Cough Cure. Compare carefully the Dr. Shoop package with others and note the difference. No poison marks there! You can always be on the safe side by demanding

Cough Cure
F. B. JOHNSON & CO.

People were very kind, and, though they laughed a great deal, they gave so much that before we'd been half the rounds Mr. Doremus said we had more than enough for our friend. He wanted to know if I would like to "hit the nail on the head" and settle matters at once by arranging with the purser for a second class cabin to be put at the hero's disposal. I wanted him to do that part alone, but he pretended to be shy and said he had grown to depend so entirely on my co-operation that he felt unequal to undertaking any responsibility without

There were two heads bobbing like black corks.

it. He told the same story to the purser that he had told others about my being the one to start the subscription, and he wanted me to sign a kind of letter which he wrote, to the effect that the passengers had chosen this way of testifying their appreciation of a gallant deed and so on, but I wouldn't, and he stopped teasing at last when he saw that I was going to be vexed.

After the business was what Mr. Doremus called "fixed up," he took me back to my chair on deck. Sally wasn't in her place, and as I was wondering what had become of her the dressing for dinner bugle went wailing over the ship like a hungry banshee. I said to myself that Sally must have gone early because her frock was to be particularly elaborate. I felt conscious of having heaps of interesting things to tell, and I understood exactly what Victoria means when she says she's in one of her "pretty and popular moods."

I danced into our stateroom, where only a drawn curtain covers the open doorway. No one was there, and the cabin was so quiet that it seemed to greet me with a warning "S-sh!"

Down fell my spirits with a dull thud, though I didn't know why. My joyousness changed to what story book writers describe as a "foreboding of disaster," but when I have it it's generally connected with a lecture from mother, so I know it only as a sneaky "I haven't eaten the cream" sort of feeling.

Just as I had begun to take off my frock Louise appeared at the door which leads into the little drawing room. She said that if I pleased madam would be glad to see me in her cabin. I hurried across to the other stateroom opposite to ours and there found Mrs. Ess Kay in a gorgeously embroidered pink satin Japanese thing which she calls a kimono. She was sitting in a chair in front of the makeshift dressing table putting on her rings and clasping bracelets on her wrists with vicious snaps. Sally, who hadn't begun to dress, was standing up looking almost cross—that is, with different features from hers she might have succeeded in looking cross.

"Sit down, Betty, please. I want to talk to you," said Mrs. Ess Kay.

Somehow it always makes me feel stiff when she "Betty's" me, as my old nurse says it does with your ears if you eat broad beans.

"If I do I shall be late for dinner," said I, just as if a minute ago I hadn't been dying to pour out my news.

"Never mind dinner, my dear girl," replied Mrs. Ess Kay, with an air which I do believe she tried to copy from mother. "What I have to say is more important than dinner. I hope what I have been hearing isn't true."

"That depends upon what it was," I retorted, disguising my pertness with a smile.

"Don't think I've been tattling," said Sally. "Whatever my faults may be, I haven't a rubber neck."

I didn't know in the least what she meant. But afterward she explained that if your neck is always pivoting around to pry into other people's affairs it is a rubber neck, and I shall remember the expression to tell Stan when I go home. He will like to add it to his collection of strange beasts.

Mrs. Ess Kay partly turned her back upon Sally. "The dear duchess" (she always speaks of mother in that way), "the dear duchess has entrusted you to my charge, Betty, and I don't know what I shall do if you take advantage of me by playing naughty tricks whenever I am incapacitated from chaperoning you for half an hour."

One would have thought I was a trained dog! I simply stared with saucer eyes, and she went on. "Mrs. Collingwood came in to inquire for my headache, and she told me that you have been running about begging for money to give to a common man in the steerage. I sent instantly for Sally, but she either knows or pretends to know nothing."

I rushed into explanations, sure that when Mrs. Ess Kay understood I should be pronounced "not guilty."

But, to my surprise, her chin grew squarer and squarer, and her eyes harder and lighter till they looked almost white.

"I don't want to be harsh," she said at last in the tone people use when they're walking on the ragged edge of their patience, "but for the duchess's sake I must be firm. It was very wrong of Tommy Doremus to let you make yourself so conspicuous. This may lead to your being dreadfully misunderstood and putting yourself and all of us in a false position. The man may be a butcher, for all you know."

"His complexion isn't pink and white enough for a butcher's," said I. "Besides, I thought that in America one man was as good as another."

"You were never more mistaken in your life, my dear girl, and the sooner you correct such an impression the better or you may get into serious trouble from which I can't save you. If the steerage man isn't a butcher he's probably a professional swimmer and the whole thing was a scheme to advertise himself. In fact, I am pretty certain from what Mrs. Collingwood said it was that. And I want you to promise me solemnly that you will not go around helping to advertise the creature any more. If you say you admire such a person, people will think you're like the matinee girls who wait at stage doors and run after actors."

I was so angry that I "talked back," and it finally ended in our relations being somewhat strained at dinner which ruined my appetite until a peculiarly soothing iced pudding came on. Afterward Mrs. Ess Kay was cool to Mr. Doremus and would have been cold, I think, if he weren't Mrs. Van der Windt's cousin. He lounged up to our place on deck to give me the news that the third class hero (as he calls the bronze young man) refused to be second class. He had asked permission to give the cabin offered him to the child whose life he had saved and the mother.

"It's for you to say yes or no, Lady Betty," announced Mr. Doremus, "because it's your show. You set the top spinning."

"She is to have nothing more to do with the affair," Mrs. Ess Kay answered for me quickly. "She is very sorry she commenced it and has lost the small interest she felt in the beginning. I do hope that tramp or beggar or whatever he is hasn't got it in his conceited head that Lady Betty Bulkeley has bothered herself about his insignificant affairs, or he'll be thrusting himself upon her notice in some way which will be very disagreeable for me, as her guardian."

"Well, he has sent a message of thanks to every one concerned," said Mr. Tommy Doremus. "I don't know whether he put Lady Betty at the top of the list or not, and if that's the way you feel about our nice little stunt I expect it's just as well not to inquire further."

All the rest of the trip has been spoiled for me by the hateful way in which the excitement of that day ended, and it does seem too bad, for everything might have been so nice.

Whether people really do make ill natured jokes or not I don't know. But anyhow, Mrs. Ess Kay keeps hinting that they do, which is almost as disagreeable for me. She says that they have nicknamed the bronze man "Lady Betty's hero," and this has made me so self conscious that I can't bear to go near the part of the deck where you look over into the steerage for fear some silly creatures may think I'm trying to see him. I feel as if I had been a conspicuous idiot, and I'm so uncomfortable with Mrs. Ess Kay now that I expect to be wretched in her house. I can't talk it over even with Sally, because after all she's Mrs. Ess Kay's cousin. I wish I had a nose two inches long and green hair, and then perhaps mother and Vic would have let me stop at home.

Still I can't help taking an interest in ship life, and now that it's the morning of the last day on board I look back on it all as if it ought to have been even more fun than it was.

I enjoyed hearing about the marconigrams when they came. It seemed like living in a tale by Stan's favorite, Jules Verne, to have messages come flying to us in midocean like invisible carrier pigeons. I enjoyed having Mr. Doremus tell me about his luck in the big pools when the men bet on the day's run, and I'm afraid I rather reveled in seeing a row on deck one evening when one man accused another of being a cheat and a professional gambler and almost cried about some money he'd lost. If I had been the first man I wouldn't have trusted the other in the beginning, because he had fat lips, greasy black curls and wicked eyes so close together you felt they might run into one if he winked too hard on a hot day. But if I had been so stupid as to trust him I would have been ashamed to make a fuss afterward. I think people ought to be sporting.

I liked the "captain's dinner," too, in honor of the last night on board, with the flags and paper flower decorations the band playing military music, the dishes on the menu named after famous generals and the stewards' dinner in a long procession when the salons had been darkened, each carrying a bright colored, illuminated ice and cake with tiny English and American and German flags stuck into the top.

Yes, I liked everything, except—but now it is nearly over. America is just round the corner of the world.

Eczema, pimples, dandruff and itching skin diseases are of local origin and are caused by germs. In order to cure these diseases the germs and their poisons must be driven to the surface of the skin and destroyed. Salves and greasy lotions may give temporary relief, but they do not destroy the germs that cause the disease. A St. Louis chemist has discovered a clean vegetable liquid remedy that will draw the germs and their poisons to the surface of the skin and destroy them, leaving a nice, clear, healthy skin. This remedy is known as Zemo, and by its many remarkable cures has attracted the attention of the leading scientists and skin specialists of this country and Europe.

Zemo has been given the most cordial reception by the public of any similar remedy ever produced, and it is recognized as an honest medicine that makes honest cures.

Zemo is for sale everywhere. You can obtain a trial package free by writing to the E. W. ROSE MEDICINE CO., St. Louis, Mo. Mr. F. E. Wolcott has secured the agency for Zemo in Rushville, and will gladly show you proof of some of the wonderful cures made by this remarkable remedy.

The United States has come into possession of the Philippines and all the political and strategical responsibilities entailed by this movement. The participation in, and suppression of, the Boxer rebellion, the expanding recognition of the supreme importance to the future of American trade, of the open door, the realization that, with the exception of Japan, no country is so well situated as the United States, industrially and geographically, to make the most and the best of the development of China. These and other events have transformed American indifference to the fortunes of the Far East into a real, live, tingling and vigilant concern.

Logical Commercial Events.

It did not need the Chinese boycott of American goods, or the outbreak of the trouble with Japan over the immigration question, to convince an impartial onlooker that America's relations with the powers of the Far East would, before long, be more immediate, of greater moment and possibly of greater hazard than our relations with the powers of Europe. The American fleet has foreshadowed the systematic assertion of American power in the Pacific. American interests in that ocean, commercial, political and territorial, have been neglected far too long.

Father of the Philippines.

Mr. Taft is in a sense the father of the Philippines. It has been his kindly, constructive statesman's hand that evolved order out of their original chaos. In his report submitted to Congress, as a result of his visit to the Philippines to be present at the opening of their first Assembly, he made four recommendations. First—action by Congress admitting to the United States Philippine products under such conditions that they would not interfere with American tobacco and sugar industries; second, the removal of restrictions as to acquiring mining claims and lands; third, further legislation authorizing the government to carry on an agricultural bank, which is now authorized only as a private enterprise; fourth, the repeal of the law applying to the Islands the coastwise laws of the United States.

Philosophy of Development.

Our nation has grown by obeying the instinct of development. We are to-day entitled to be called Greater America, but that greatness will be lost if we forget the political philosophy which has made us great—expansion of American thought, territory, mechanical skill, civilization and philosophy. This is an auspicious time for the creation and development of our export trade. The unexplored and undeveloped markets of Asia furnish the opportunity. All other fields have been occupied, and to attempt to wrest them from other nations would be of doubtful expediency. In the Orient the commercial possibilities exceed the dreams of the optimist.

Are the American people ready to abandon such a situation and leave it to the mercy of the Democratic party with its failure of fifty years looking at us from the past?

THE YOUNG REPUBLICAN.

In a business sense the young voters who have come forward since 1904 have more at stake than any other class in rendering a right decision. Their active lives are ahead. They have more years to live, and are now laying the foundations of their business careers. National policies and conditions are of the highest consequence to them. Perhaps they are farmers. If so, let them ask the older generation how farmers fared under the last Democratic administration. Let them take the market reports of to-day and compare them with the prices that prevailed when Mr. Bryan made his crusade for free silver and hurled defiance at President Cleveland because he stood by the gold standard. At the same time Bryan denounced the Republican party for its protectionist as well as sound money position. Perhaps the first voter is to engage in manufacturing or mining, as wage-earner or otherwise. Does he want his American rate of wages and the industry he chooses reasonably protected against foreign competition? If he does Mr. Bryan's leadership will take him in the opposite direction.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

The Tide of Prosperity.

The tide of prosperity may ebb and flow, but the great waves of industrial wealth will continue to grow in volume with ever-increasing comfort and happiness to our contented people, who will soon number 100,000,000. And because of our intelligent and skillful labor, made so because of good wages and good living, we shall make better fabrics and build stronger structures—that in spite of their higher cost in the beginning will be cheaper in the end and will be wanted by the people in every corner of the earth. So that we shall capture the markets of the world in greater volume without ever sacrificing our home market, the foundation of our national wealth and progress.—Hon. James S. Sherman.

Henry Gassaway Davis, who was defeated with Parker four years ago, is wiser as well as older. He says he sees no hope for the Democracy, and thinks Parker is again wasting valuable time in making speeches.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

It is interesting to note to how great an extent Governor Hughes is commanding the support of Democrats in New York State.—Springfield Republican.

Anyway, Mr. Taft never tried to steal Mr. Bryan's government ownership railroad.—Omaha Bee.

WILLIAM H. TAFT AND PACIFIC COMMERCE

The Constructive Genius of Our Oriental Trade-Empire.

Carried the Torch of Civilization to Antipodes—Made Secure Our Far Eastern Commercial Supremacy.

During the past ten years, under a constructive Republican policy, the United States has assumed a position in the Pacific Ocean which is destined to give her the bulk of the vast commerce of the countries situated on the greatest body of water on the globe.

Some of the things accomplished by the party of enlightened freedom and patriotism have been: The securing of the open door in China; the preservation of the integrity of the Chinese Empire; the acquisition of the Philippines; the establishment of coaling stations across the Pacific and finally the transfer of the American fleet of battleships from the Atlantic to the Pacific to modestly remind the Oriental nations that, having assumed the position of a world power in the Pacific, we are prepared to maintain it against all comers.

America and Japan in Pacific.

Two wars have caused the whole world to realize that the Pacific Ocean is to be the scene of the greatest human activities in the future. The war of the United States with Spain gave us possessions which bring us within speaking distance of Asia, and the Russo-Japanese war revealed Japan to the world as a powerful and progressive nation, whose future sphere of action would of necessity be within the boundaries of the ocean separating America from the Orient.

Taft a Constructive Statesman.

The Honorable William H. Taft has been one of the chief advisers and strongest advocates of the Republican administration policy during this formative and historic period. He has been a pioneer, not only along the lines of statecraft, which have had for their object the development of our western states, but he has given particular attention to the situation in the Orient with reference to the future commerce between those far away countries and the Pacific coast of America.

In his own inimitable way and uniting a unique personality with the highest authority as a diplomat, he poured oil on the troubled waters in Japan and changed the political storm there raging, into a placid sunshine of peace. In China he created such enthusiasm as the Orientals have never shown to any other visitor and left that empire with the belief on their part that the United States is not only ready to enter into commercial reciprocity, but to still stand as China's friend and lend its influence to see that she gets justice from those who would violate her territorial integrity.

Taft and Oriental Trade.

In his Shanghai speech, addressing a body of influential merchants, diplomats and Chinese government officials, Mr. Taft spoke in part as follows:

"We do not complain of loss of trade that results from the employment of great enterprise, ingenuity or attention to the demands of the Chinese market, or the greater business acumen shown by our competitors. We would have the right to protest at being secluded from the trade of China by reason of our insistence of the policy of the Open Door. The acquiescence in this policy of all the nations interested has been so unhesitating and emphatic that it is hardly worth while to speculate upon the probable action of the United States in case the interests of American merchants are placed in jeopardy, and how far the United States would go in the protection of its Chinese trade. I cannot say. It is clear, however, that our merchants are being roused to the importance of the Chinese trade and they would view with deep concern any and all political obstacles which menace that expansion. "This feeling is likely to find expression in the action of the American government. The United States and the other powers favor the open door, and if they are wise they will encourage the Empire to take long steps in administrative and governmental reform, the development of the resources of China, and the improvement of the welfare of the people. To do this would add to China's strength and position as a self-respecting government and aid her in preparing to resist possible foreign aggression in the seeking of undue and exclusive proprietary privileges. Thus no foreign aid will be required to enforce the open door and the policy of equal opportunity for all."

History Making Happenings.

During recent Republican administrations we have built up an export trade with the Far East of something like $150,000,000 per year. We have landed an army on Chinese territory, and have been drawn willy-nilly into the vortex of the Far Eastern question. During the period policies have been formulated which have compelled us to take a hand in momentous negotiations. We have definitely enrolled the Far East among the objects of our commercial and diplomatic solicitude. Things have changed much during this ten years of Republican rule.

HOME NEWS.

Of Interest to Everyone in Rushville.

In every newspaper in the country you will read statements made by people living in out-of-the-way places who are supposed to have been cured or derived great benefit from some wonderful remedy or "cure-all." But here in Rushville we only publish statements made by Rushville people—the testimony of your friends, neighbors and fellow townsmen.

Mrs. W. A. Wylie, 1029 North Sexton street, Rushville, Ind., says: "My husband had typhoid fever and after recovering found that his kidneys were in a weakened condition. The secretions from these organs passed too frequently and caused him to arise many times during the night. His back was lame and ached a great deal and he suffered from frequent headaches. When he saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised he procured a box at F. B. Johnson & Co.'s drug store. They quickly corrected the kidney trouble and restored strength to his back. The pain also left his back together with the headaches. Mr. Wylie thinks highly of Doan's Kidney Pills and is pleased to recommend them to other sufferers of kidney complaint."

Falling in Love.

I do not doubt that as the world goes on a deeper sense of moral responsibility in the matter of marriage will grow up among us. But it will not take the false direction of ignoring these our profoundest and holiest instincts. Marriage for money may go, marriage for rank may go, marriage for position may go, but marriage for love, I believe and trust, will last forever. Men in the future will probably feel that a union with their cousins or near relations is positively wicked; that a union with those too like them in person or disposition is at least undesirable; that a union based upon considerations of wealth or any other consideration save considerations of immediate natural impulse is base and disgraceful. But to the end of time they will continue to feel in spite of doctrinaires that the voice of nature is better far than the voice of the lord chancellor or the royal society and that the instinctive desire for a particular helpmate is a surer guide for the ultimate happiness both of the race and of the individual than any amount of deliberate consultation. It is not the foolish fancy of youth that will have to be got rid of, but the foolish, wicked and mischievous interference of parents or outsiders.—Grant Allen.

Knew the Sound of Wood.

There was an argument on a cricket field in a village near Nottingham, England, which interrupted the game for some time. The match was being played between the local tradesmen of the village. All went well until the bowler, who was the village constable, a man over six feet tall, sent a ball which bumped up from the ground and hit the village butcher, who was batting and who was exceedingly fat and perspiring freely, on the head. The wicket keeper, a remarkably thin and agile man, who was the village grocer, caught the ball and yelled, "Ow's that?" "Hout!" shouted the village baker, who possessed only one eye. "Hi say now!" roared the fat butcher, who refused to have it so. "But hit 'im on the 'ead." "Hi don't know where hit 'it you," responded the umpire, who was the village undertaker, "but Hi knows the sound of wood when Hi 'ears hit, so hout you go."

FROMINENT DEFECTIONS FROM BRYAN CONTINUE

Democratic Leaders from Coast to Coast Reject Vagaries of the Nebraska Weather Vane.

William Prentiss of Chicago Says Bryan as President Would Be a Failure—Southern Lifelong Democrats Repudiate the Candidate Who Tramples on His Ideals to Catch Votes.

The number of prominent Democrats all over the country who have announced their desertion of Bryan and have advised their friends to vote for Taft and Sherman is a matter of grave concern to Mr. Bryan's managers. In Richmond, Va., always a rock-ribbed citadel of Democracy, a Taft business men's club has been organized, with hundreds of members, and in Baltimore the defections of leading Democrats has become the subject of a daily serial in the newspapers. These illustrations are given not because they are exceptional in this campaign, but because of their geographical location.

In Chicago a sensation was caused by William Prentiss, who announced that he will support Taft instead of Bryan for President and Deneen instead of Stevenson for Governor. Mr. Prentiss has been a Democratic leader in Chicago for several years. He was Civil Service Commissioner under Mayor Dunne and has several times been Democratic candidate for judge. In 1898 he was chairman of the Democratic State convention. He was formerly an ardent Bryan partisan.

In a letter made public recently Mr. Prentiss charges Bryan with betraying his followers and forsaking the principles for which he stood prior to the present campaign.

Mr. Prentiss says:

"Bryan claims that he is the man to continue and extend Roosevelt's work, claiming much of it as suggestions of his own. Less than three months ago I preferred Bryan as Roosevelt's successor. He was my party leader, in whom I then had full confidence. But, as before indicated, my faith in Bryan is a relic. Bryan, not the ideal Bryan of the past, but the real Bryan of today, surrounded by the Macks, Murphys, McGraws, Taggarts, Sullivans and Joe Baileys et al. of the present-day Democratic party, at the best could be but a dismal failure."

California Democrats for Taft.

John J. Barrett, for years one of the most brilliant orators of the Democratic party of California, has registered this year as a Republican. That registration has given the Democratic managers a shock only second to that which they felt when they learned that M. F. Tarpey had deserted the shifting cause of Bryan.

"My registration speaks for itself," said Mr. Barrett. "When asked to state my politics I said I was a Republican. That tells the tale."

Barrett preached Democratic doctrines from all the stumps of California.

Reasons of a North Carolinian.

Regardless of past affiliations, students of affairs, delvers and thinkers, are fast lining up for Judge Taft. A recent example is that of Silas McBee, editor of the Churchman, of New York. In an interview he says:

"I am a North Carolinian by birth and a lifelong Democrat. I shall vote for Mr. Taft because he has it in his heart to bring my people of the South back into absolute union with the national life and to their historic place as a controlling force in the nation, and to do which would immortalize him as a statesman."

"I shall vote for him because he more nearly represents my ideals of government, of social order and economic policy than any living Democrat, or any man before the people to-day, save alone Theodore Roosevelt, who is the only Republican President I have ever voted for. Mr. Taft has administered every trust committed to him by the nation with an eye single to the nation's good and for the highest interests of the people that compose the nation."

The Roster in Baltimore.

Mr. George R. Willis, former president of the Police Board of Baltimore and Democrat of the old school will cast the first Republican vote since he attained his majority. Mr. Willis will vote for Taft.

"Under no circumstances could I vote for Bryan," said he, "for the reason that I do not believe he is sincere, and if sincere, is not a good man for President of the United States."

"How do you gauge public sentiment?" Mr. Willis was asked.

"Among my clientele I know of no one who will vote for Bryan. There is not a Democrat who favors him."

Another prominent southern Democrat who will vote for Taft is Mr. W. A. Garrett, chief executive officer to the receivers of the Seaboard Air Line Railway Company.

Mr. Garrett's reasons for supporting the Republican candidate are that he is the candidate of the business men and his election would be for the best interests of the country.

Mr. Garrett says he has noticed a leaning toward Taft in several of the Southern States and instanced Alabama as one of these.

Two men who have always been prominent in Democratic circles in Baltimore who have announced that they did not think enough of Bryan to vote for him, and that they would support Taft instead, are Mr. John E. Semmes, one of the prominent lawyers of Baltimore and president of the School Board, and Mr. Leigh Bonsal, who in years past has been one of the most active workers in the Democratic party. Both men said that they could not stand for Bryan and his policies.

Mr. Bonsal's defection from the ranks of Democracy was an especial shock to the Bryan men in the State. They had counted on him as one of the prize spellbinders during the coming campaign, and had no idea but that he was an ardent supporter of the Democratic nominees. "When and where will it suit you best to speak during the coming campaign in behalf of Mr. Bryan?" Mr. Bryan's friends in Maryland wrote him. When Mr. Bonsal replied that he intended to vote for Taft the correspondence ceased.

Major Richard M. Venable, former president of the Baltimore Park Board and one of the most prominent Independent Democrats in Maryland, has declared for Taft and against Bryan. "I am for Taft," said Major Venable, "as I do not agree with Mr. Bryan's opinions on the various questions now confronting the public."

"He has not the judgment and temperament of a statesman. A statesman knows that no matter how desirable a reform may be he must take short steps in accomplishing it. He knows that it cannot be done in a day. The public mind and the new machinery of administration must be educated and adapted to introduce such radical changes as are contained in Mr. Bryan's program, even conceding for the argument that he is right."

Waldo Newcomer, president of the National Exchange Bank of Baltimore, says that although he believes in the principles of the Democratic party and would like to cast his ballot for the Democratic ticket, he finds it impossible to support Bryan and his ideas.

Mr. Newcomer characterized the Bryan plank in the Denver platform guaranteeing deposits in banks as nonsensical and unnecessary. He said the scheme smacked of paternalism, and is not founded upon sound or good business principles.

Mr. Newcomer said he did not regard Mr. Bryan as the type of man to make a satisfactory or safe President, and felt that the interests of the country and the people as a whole would be far better promoted this time by the election of Mr. Taft, in whose sanity, soundness and honesty every one who knows him has the utmost confidence.

Frederic R. Condit, for years a prominent New York Independent Democrat, has stated that he intends to vote for Taft.

J. E. Smith, vice president of the Simmons Hardware Company of St. Louis, whose politics heretofore has been Democratic, has come out for Taft. He says many other Democrats among St. Louis business men will mark their ballots the same way.

New York Newspaper Deserts Bryan.

The Ithaca (N. Y.) Chronicle, a newspaper heretofore Democratic, has broken with that party and joined the opposition, saying:

"Believing that there is no hope for reasonable men in the Democracy under its present leaders; refusing to truckle to the misfit combination of Populism, Socialism, corruption and bossism presented under the guise of Democracy, the Chronicle takes its stand firmly for Taft and Sherman, for Hughes and his running mate."

TAFT'S SERVICE TO LABOR.

Destroyed the Old English Law Assumption that Union Labor Is a Conspiracy.

(From the Emporia (Kan.) Gazette.)

The simple fact is that no man has done more to place union labor on a sound, square, law-abiding, respected footing than William H. Taft by his decisions in labor cases. Both employers and employed have acknowledged the justice of his decisions and learned to abide by them, and to-day there is not an intelligent worker or fair-minded employer who would seek to abrogate them.

Judge Taft lifted union labor from the doubt and uncertainty as to its rights which had before prevented and gave it a standing which it has ever since retained, and which has proved under his rulings, secure against all attack. The old assumption, derived from England, that union labor is a conspiracy, and that workers could be prevented from leaving railway or other employment at their will, was swept away forever by Judge Taft so far as the United States is concerned, and when an attempt was made, years later, to revive the principle, Judge Taft's decision was quoted successfully by the labor side to defeat the plea.

Mr. Taft was and is labor's friend, because he is absolutely just, and would no more permit wrong to be done to the poorest laborer in the land than he would to any one else. And the honest, law-abiding workers asks and expects no more than this.

Bryan, we learn from a Democratic contemporary, is giving the East a good scare. Bryan's scares, however, never hurt anybody but Bryan.—Philadelphia Press.

Mr. Taft says that he stands on his record. No particular credit to Taft in that. Anybody would be glad to stand on the kind of record he has.—Topeka Capital.

The Ladies Missionary Society of the Christian church and the Young Ladies Circle met yesterday afternoon with Mrs. O. E. Humes at her home in North Harrison street. The meeting was the most successful ever held by the society, one hundred and twenty-seven being present. There were 8 new members. The society was very pleasantly surprised by the unexpected visit of Mrs. W. W. Sniff of Paris, Ill., a former president of the Missionary Society. Mrs. C. F. Kennedy of Indianapolis and Mrs. C. Reeves Jones of Missouri were the other out-of-town guests.

Perhaps the most curious of polishing wheels is that made of corn husks for finishing shell or bone combs.

IS THIS A SQUARE DEAL?

Johnson's Drug Store makes this square deal offer because they are authorized to do so by the makers of Mi-o-na tablets and they are willing to have this statement appear in the Republican because they know the offer is genuine.

And while it may be that there are about cases in 100 that are too far gone for Mi-o-na to cure, we are willing and ready to take all the chances, and if Mi-o-na does not cure, any dispeptic can have his money back.

Even with this liberal offer, Johnson's drug store will not have to refund but a very small percentage, because the 8 incurable dispeptics will find so much relief in Mi-o-na that they will once again look upon the sunny side of life, and will continue to use Mi-o-na.

Now, reader, you may say how can the makers of Mi-o-na make such an offer? How do they know that 92 per cent of the users will be cured, and that the other 8 per cent, or the incurables, will be relieved?

Why, it's all very simple. We've made this same offer in 1000 towns before we made it here, and we have figured out the percentages, so that when we make the statement we know it to be absolutely true.

"Mi-o-na tablets are truly great for anyone that has stomach trouble. I can not praise them too highly for what they have done for me."—Mrs. W. D. Bennett, Bucksport, Me.

The price is only 50 cents a box.

WANT COURT TO SET ASIDE DEED

Evidence in Suit of Jacob Ruby Against Greeley and Matilda Ewing Heard by Judge.

TOOK ALL DAY TO HEAR IT

The suit to set aside a deed made by Jacob Ruby in favor of Greeley and Matilda Ewing was tried today before Judge Sparks. Jacob Ruby deeded forty acres of land to the defendants and now asks that it be set aside by the court. Watson, Titsworth & Green represent the defendants and Douglas Morris, the plaintiff. The suit required the entire day.

A SMALL FORTUNE FOR HIS FALL HOGS

John Leisure, a stock raiser of Henderson recently sold to L. B. Woodward, a shipper of Dublin, eight carloads of well finished hogs for $7 a hundred. They went to the Huffman Packing company, Cincinnati, for $10,000. Leisure is the largest feeder of live stock in Rush county, and this deal represented his annual fall marketing of hogs.

THIS MATTER OF SMOKE. We are sure that our view of the cigar business is unusual. Most druggists and all cigar dealers sell cigars to make money. We sell them to make friends—and money too in the long run. We want to get smokers into the store and let them judge what kind of a business we conduct by the kind of a cigar they get. In cigars as in drugs we get the best that money can buy.
